

Overview

A young design graduate studied industrial design at National Cheng Kung University in Tainan, Taiwan. I'm equipped with knowledge of multiple design research method and have gone through projects of versatile range -- from home appliances to user interface, from consumer electronics to social welfare system. As a young designer I do not limit myself from dipping my toes into different fields and am eager to find the cross points between human behavior, latest technology and refreshing ideas.

TED x Tainan

Member of the Spatial Design Team

Sep 2017 - Aug 2018

TED x Tainan is the first TEDx group organized in southern Taiwan. With its spirit "ideas worth spreading", it is a platform for people to spread local ideas to the public.

Working with people with different backgrounds to design the stage for the 2017 conference, Metrophobia. This is the first time my design can be actually realized, presented in front of hundreds of people. From exploring ideation to the final execution of the space arrangement, traffic flows and interactions inside the exhibition for a TEDx event in 2018.

Creative ID, NCKU ID Student Assoc.

Team Leader

Sep 2018 - July 2019

CreativeID is a self-organized team in NCKU ID Student Assoc. The goal is to be an inspiration of people's creativity and telling unique stories of people from a variety of fields.

Responsible to lead a 8-people group to finish multiple projects and interview works- from inviting the interviewees, drafting an interview outline, to the later editing and typesetting. Our team also design interesting small pop-up exhibitions & field experiments inside the faculty building.
